This webtoon contains jokes regarding sexual orientation stereotypes in author's surroundings. The contents expressed in this webtoon are not intended to offend anyone and do not always reflect personal opinions of the author

#NOHOMO

(Even with this title)

Through no fault of author's own there's a possibility some people will get offended by it.

Read it at your own risk.
You have been warned!

It's not right get offended by our stuff
we said it, now get over it or go. The "author" has not a right over them.

Admission of making stuff with that
character is, however
in the story!

Mom, did Daddy leave
because I got 5 in math?

or because I can't do
multiplication like he wanted?

Oh, Ditya..

Sometimes, two people in love
can walk separate paths if they don't feel for each other anymore, do you understand?

Daddy is still your father, but from now on you'll only live with me.

You still have to
study hard, okay?

*And don't ever
think that Daddy
left because of you.*

NO + HOMO

TOGETHER!

But-

C'mon!

You can study later.

There's new playground near
the river!

And, and you still have to teach me how to ask
for candies in Bahasa
Indonesia!

Ditya

Ditya?

Ditya?

I thought you were studying because
you didn't make
any sound.

DEADLINE FOR ASSIGNMENT!

So where are we going?

A place that's still
open and has wall
sockets.

A cartoon illustration of a dark night scene. A street lamp with a single light bulb is illuminated, casting a warm glow. Two boys are standing in the foreground, looking up at a sign. The boy on the left is wearing a white t-shirt with a globe logo, and the boy on the right is wearing a red and white striped shirt. The background is dark with some green foliage and a wooden fence.

Seems like...

AS BRIGHT AS
SUNDAY MORNING

Our place is the ONLY ONE with
no electricity.

Not yet
finished?

Nope, wait...

Good grief.

They're handsome
but have turned
THAT way, huh...

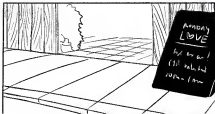

Brian, don't tell me
it's Saturday night...

No, it isn't.
